The EU and the Ukraine Crisis: The End of the “European Model?”

Lecture by Dr. Beverly Crawford and Dr. Jeff Pennington, University of California, Berkeley

Tuesday, March 17, 2015 | 11 AM - 12:30 PM | FIU Modesto A. Maidique Campus | AHC3 - 205

Beverly Crawford is Professor of Political Science and Political Economy and the Co-Director of the European Union Center at the University of California, Berkeley. She has published extensively and is an internationally known speaker on topics such as European politics, German foreign policy, technology transfer policy, post-communist transitions, the European Union, the Euro-Med process, globalization, and ethnic conflict. She is the author of Economic Vulnerability in International Relations, and Power and German Foreign Policy: Embedded Hegemony in Europe, a seminal study of Germany's role in constructing the European Monetary Union, European diplomacy, and non-proliferation policy. She is co-editor of several volumes on Europe and the European Union.

Jeff Pennington is Co-director of the European Union Center and Executive Director of the Institute of Slavic, East European, and Eurasian Studies at the University of California, Berkeley. He holds a BS in Foreign Service from the Edmund A. Walsh School of Foreign Service at Georgetown University, and MA in East European Studies from Indiana University, and has conducted doctoral work at the Graduate School of International Cooperation Studies at Kobe University in Japan. His studies and work have allowed him to live for extended periods of time in a number of countries, including Hungary, Romania, and Japan. His research interests include 19th- and 20th-century Hungarian and Romanian history, and particularly the history and ethnography of Transylvania. He is currently working on a project to compare the diplomatic relations Japan had with both Romania and Hungary during the interwar period.

Sponsored by the Miami-Florida European Union Center of Excellence, European Studies Program, University of California, Berkeley, and the Institute of Slavic, East European and Eurasian Studies

This event is free and open to the public. Please RSVP by March 16th to calyc@fiu.edu.
