

Ruth K. and Shepard Broad Distinguished Lecture Series

Steven J. Green School of International and Public Affairs

The Syrian Crisis in Focus A Panel Discussion with FIU Faculty Experts

Thursday, October 29, 2015 | 12:30 PM | FIU Modesto A. Maidique Campus | CP 145 (Chemistry & Physics)

Join the School of International and Public Affairs for a panel discussion that explores the conflict and crisis in Syria. FIU faculty experts will discuss the origins of the crisis, its domestic and societal impact on Syria and the Syrian people, and the geopolitical impact of the crisis on the region and the neighboring world.

Faculty Panel:

- Mohiaddin Mesbahi, Associate Professor, Department of Politics and International Relations, and Director, Middle East Studies Program
- Ronald Cox, Professor, Department of Politics and International Relations
- Markus Thiel, Associate Professor, Department of Politics and International Relations, and Director, European and Eurasian Studies Program
- Eric Lob, Assistant Professor, Department of Politics and International Relations
- Mohamad Homayounvash, Research Fellow, Middle East Studies Program
- Daniel Rivera, Research Fellow, Middle East Studies Program

Moderator

- Shlomi Dinar, Associate Dean, Steven J. Green School of International and Public Affairs

Co-sponsored by the Middle East Studies Program, Initiative for Muslim World Studies, Department of Politics and International Relations, European and Eurasian Studies Program, Office of Global Learning Initiatives, and Honors College.

This event is free and open to the public. To RSVP, please click here. For more information, call 305-348-7266.