

Miami-Florida Jean Monnet Center of Excellence

European and Eurasian Studies Program

Conversations on Europe

View of the U.S. Elections from Europe

Thursday, October 20, 2016 | 12:00 PM - 1:30 PM | FIU Modesto A. Maidique Campus | GL 835

In this installment of Conversations on Europe, our panel of experts from both sides of the Atlantic will examine the potential impact of upcoming elections in both the U.S. and Europe and explore significant transnational trends in electoral politics, including the rise of populism and the polarization of the electorate, as well as the increasing importance of issues related to immigration, the economy and trade. How might the U.S. elections in November impact European politics and the transatlantic relationship? What electoral contests in Europe are likely to have the greatest impact on the U.S.? These questions and others will be explored via multi-point video conferencing.

Panelists:

- Jae-Jae Spoon, Associate Professor, Department of Political Science, University of Pittsburgh, Moderator & Panelist
- Lawrence LeDuc, Professor Emeritus, Department of Political Science, University of Toronto
- Jan Rovny, Assistant Professor, Sciences Po, Paris and researchers, Department of Political Science University of Gothenburg, Sweden
- Miguel Simon, Visiting Scholar, European Studies Center, University of Pittsburgh

This event is free and open to all FIU students, but spaces are limited. Please RSVP to calyc@fiu.edu.

Co-sponsored by:

UCIS • European Union Center at University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign • Center for European Studies at University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill • Jean Monnet Center of Excellence at Florida International University