Migration in The Mediterranean: A Historical Perspective

Tuesday, Nov. 12, 2019 | 12:00 p.m.—1:30 p.m. | FIU Green Library Resource Center—GL 156

With migration across the Mediterranean so much in the news the past years, a broad public awareness of migration patterns and contemporary domestic and international politics has developed. But migration around the Mediterranean region did not begin in 2015. And this is not the first time one could speak of a "migration crisis". In this session of Conversation on Europe, our panel of experts will take a long historical look back at migration patterns and trends within the region, from the Renaissance to the present day.

Panelists:

- Felicita Tramontana, University of Warwick
- Heath Cabot, University of Pittsburgh
- Emanuel Rota, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign
- Julia Clancy-Smith, University of Arizona
- Martina Cavjner, University of Trento

Moderator:

- Jae-Jae Spoon, Department of Political Science, University of Pittsburgh
