Conversations on Europe

Border and Contested Memory in Northern Ireland

Tuesday, March 24, 2020 | 12:00 p.m.—1:30 p.m. | REMOTE

For the third installment of Conversations on Europe for Spring 2020, join us for an interactive virtual roundtable discussion on 'Borders and Contested Memory in Northern Ireland'. Our panel of experts will explore the conflict over territory and identity in Northern Ireland and how that has played out at the border and in other spaces. We will discuss what has changed since the Good Friday/Belfast Agreement and what may happen as a result of Brexit and the recent elections in the Republic of Ireland.

Panelists:

- Jonathan Blake, Associate Political Scientist, RAND Corporation
- Katy Hayward, Reader in Sociology, Queen's University; and Senior Fellow of the ESR funded UK in a Changing Europe, Queen's University Belfast
- Jennifer Keating, Assistant Dean for Educational Initiatives, Carnegie Mellon University
- Connal Parr, Lecturer in History, Department of Humanities, Northumbria University

Moderator:

- Jae-Jae Spoon, Department of Political Science, University of Pittsburgh
