It is hard to predict the next steps and the outcome of the ongoing clash between Ukraine and Russia. Vladimir Putin has a determined vision to revive the Russian Empire as a recognized player within the new geopolitical constellations currently emerging. At odds with this vision are Ukrainian patriots, whose principal goal is to protect and further build an independent, democratic, and prosperous Ukraine aligned with the world's democracies.

Join us for a timely conversation with Yuriy Sergeyev, former Ukrainian Ambassador to the United Nations, who will reflect and comment on the current crisis and the situation on the ground.
