

Minority Groups and Territoriality in the European Union and Beyond

A presentation of the Miami-Florida Jean Monnet Center of Excellence

Florida International University | Modesto A. Maidique Campus
11200 SW 8th Street, Miami, FL 33186 – CBC 140

Tuesday, April 4, 2023

Participants: Biographical Notes

GUEST SPEAKER

Renat Shaykhutdinov, Ph.D.

Associate Professor in Political Science

Director of Graduate Studies

Department of Politic Science

Florida Atlantic University

Renat Shaykhutdinov came to Florida Atlantic University in 2007 from Texas A&M University where he received his PhD. He earned his BA degrees in Political Science and International Relations, and Sociology from the University of Bosphorus in Istanbul, Turkey. His teaching and research interests include comparative and international politics, ethnic conflict, research methods, power-sharing arrangements, decentralization, and the politics of the former Soviet Union and Central and Eastern Europe. Renat Shaykhutdinov is a native of the East European city of Kazan located in the Middle Volga Region and is fluent in Tatar, Russian, and Turkish.

MODERATOR

Astrid Arraras, Ph.D.

Teaching Professor

Department of Politics & International Relations

Steven J. Green School of International and Public Affairs

Florida International University

Astrid Arrarás was born and raised in Puerto Rico. She graduated from the University of Puerto Rico at Mayaguez with B.A. in Political Science in 1984. After receiving her B.A, she earned a Ph D. in Political Science at Princeton University in 1998. From 1998 until 1999, she worked as a Lecturer in the Department of Politics at Princeton University. At Florida International University, she worked as an Assistant Professor (1999-2004), Director of Academic Programs in the Latin American Caribbean Center (2004-10), Lecturer (2004-10), Senior Lecturer (2011-18) University Lecturer (2019) and Teaching Professor (from 2019 until the present) in the Department of Politics and International Relations. She is also the Coordinator of Internship Programs in the Department of Politics and International Relations. She teaches undergraduate and graduate courses on a range of topics including Comparative Politics, Political Violence, International Relations of Latin America, Politics of South America, Politics of Central America, Politics of Latin America, and Democratization. At Florida International University, she was honored with the Excellence in Teaching Award in 2004. She has published several articles in academic journals and book chapters in edited volumes. Her research interests include Democratization, Political Violence, Political and Social Movements, and Human Rights. Areas of Expertise: Latin American Politics, Democratization, Political Development

Miami-Florida
Jean Monnet Center of Excellence
European and Eurasian Studies Program

Co-funded by the European Union

Made possible through generous support from the European Commission