

Steven J. Green
School of International & Public Affairs

Study Abroad- Italy

FOOD, ECONOMY, & SOCIETY ON THE ITALIAN RIVIERA

FOR MORE INFORMATION CONTACT PROF. KINCAID AT KINCAIDD@FIU.EDU

MAY 15-JUNE 18, 2022 (SUMMER A)

This program offers you the opportunity to explore first-hand what makes Italy special. You will explore scenic towns such as Cinque Terre, Camogli, and Portofino, as well as beaches and mountain trails a short distance from the city. Meanwhile you will reside in modern apartments located in or near Genoa's sprawling medieval quarter, giving you a daily encounter with a way of life that goes back many centuries. All in five weeks—it will be the educational experience of a lifetime!

Visiting the Prunotto winery and vineyards in Barolo, Italy.

Cost

The program fee is $2,295 and includes housing, textbooks, train and bus fares, some meals for field trips, museum and fair admissions, some local transportation in Genoa, and mandatory health insurance.

The program fee does not include airfare, most meals, FIU tuition ($207.57/credit, 9 credits total) or the $175 study abroad fee.

A visit to the Magnone Olive Oil Business in Finale Ligure, Italy.

EXPERIENCES

Italy is famous for many things, but in particular, it is famed for the quality and diversity of its food. You will gain fundamental insights into Italian history, economy, society and culture through site visits along the Riviera coast to producers of cheeses, sausage, olive oil, wine, and basil (the key ingredient in Genoa's famed pesto sauce); explorations of museums and collections; and classes in history and language from Italian professors in FIU's Genoa center (housed in a 1,000 year-old convent!)

Below: students making gnocchi and focaccia in a Cooking Class.

To apply, go to
<https://studyabroad.fiu.edu/>

