Conversations on Europe The Scottish Referendum: Results & Implications A Virtual Roundtable Series organized by the EUCE at the University of Pittsburgh

Tuesday, September 23, 2014 | 12:00 - 1:30 PM | FIU Modesto A. Maidique Campus | GL 156

“Should Scotland be an independent country?” In a referendum scheduled for September 18th, voters in that country will have an opportunity to vote ‘yes’ or ‘no’ on that very question. On Tuesday, September 23rd, the EUCE at Pitt will devote the first session of its Conversations on Europe virtual roundtable series to a discussion of the results of the referendum. What is the future of the Scottish National Party? How will this effect UK politics? What are the implications of the results for other nationalist movements in Europe and North America? Are there useful comparisons to be drawn between the 2014 Scottish Referendum and the 1995 Québécois referendum?

Moderator: Ron Linden, Director of the EUCE and Professor of Political Science, University of Pittsburgh

Expert panelists

- Alicia Henderson, University of Edinburgh
- Guy Peters, University of Pittsburgh
- André Lecours, University of Ottawa
